An anti-discrimination cell in a pharmacy college aims to protect the rights of students and staff, and to eliminate discrimination and harassment. The cell's responsibilities include:

- Addressing discrimination

The cell looks into cases of discrimination based on caste, creed, religion, language, ethnicity, gender, disability, or other factors.

- Providing a platform for complaints

The cell provides a place for students to file complaints and have their grievances addressed.

- Educating students, staff, and faculty

The cell provides students, faculty, and staff with information about their legal rights and how to address grievances.

- Promoting equality

The cell promotes equality among students and works to create a socially inclusive environment.

- Encouraging healthy relationships

The cell works to create a healthy environment for academic interaction and interpersonal relationships.

- Sensitizing the community

The cell works to raise awareness of the issues faced by marginalized communities.
